DEVELOPMENT INCENTIVE PROGRAM

The City of Fairview seeks to promote the economic benefits of quality construction on vacant land

The Fairview City Council has approved a Vacant Land Development Incentive Program to incentivize development on vacant land. The program applies to commercial and residential developments. The City will grant an incentive credit of up to a maximum of 0.75% of the construction valuation for a building permit application and will waive all utility system development charges for qualifying applications. The program does have a sunset date.
